

COST

Program Cost	$ 2,000*
Tuition	$ 600
Total	$ 2,600

Financing available with no interest! Please see Bernie Cantens for more information.

Estimated Airfare ($ 700-1,000)

2-week Moravian residency cost $ 400
(Only for students who need summer boarding)

REFUNDS

Payments and deposits after April 1, 2017 are refundable only if the courses are cancelled.

HOUSING

Students and faculty will reside at the Colegio Mayor Nuestra Señora de la Asunción
Avda. Menéndez Pidal, s/n 14071 - Córdoba

COURSES 1 UNIT

MUS 191 Music in Spain (M6)
PHIL 122 Ethics (M3)
PHIL 290 Cross Cultural Philosophies (M5)

ANDALUSIA

Andalusia is one of seventeen autonomous communities of Spain, located in the south of Spain. Andalusia is divided into eight regions: Huelva, Seville, Cádiz, Córdoba, Málaga, Jaén, Granada, and Almería. It is in the most touristic part of Spain and is known for its Moorish legacy (711-1492), beaches (Costa del Sol), flamenco music and dancing, bull fighting, and tapas

CORDOBA

Córdoba is the birthplace of the great Roman philosopher Seneca. It is located 1.5 hours west of Granada, and has a population of 325,000 inhabitants. Córdoba's history is incredibly rich. In 711, it was captured by the Muslims, and by the 10th century it was the most populous city in all of Europe, with approximately 500,000 inhabitants. Culturally and politically, Córdoba was the most advanced and progressive city in all of Europe. On December 17, 1984, it was declared to be a World Heritage Site by UNESCO.

GRANADA

Granada sits at the valley of Sierra Nevada, the largest mountain range of Spain and second largest in Europe. It is only one hour away from the beautiful beaches of the south of Spain. In the winter you can ski in the morning and take a walk by the seashore in the afternoon. Granada has a rich Arabic tradition and was the city where Ibn al-Ahmar established the longest lasting Muslim dynasty on the Iberian Peninsula. It is also the home of the Alhambra, constructed by the Moors, which is one of the most magnificent palaces in the world.

SEVILLA

Seville is the capital of Andalusia. Its population is approximately 1.5 million people, making it the 4th largest city in Spain. The old town is 2 square miles and contains 3 UNESCO World Heritage Sites: the Cathedral (above), the Alcazar, and the General Archives of the Indies. Seville is 2,200 years old and has been the site of various civilizations. Most notably, Seville was a Roman city until it was conquered by the Muslims in 712 and then re-conquered by the Christians in 1248.

UNIVERSITY OF CORDOBA

<http://www.uco.es/internacional/extranjeros/index.html>

Contact

Bernie Cantens, Ph.D.

Office: Comenius Hall Room 107

Email: bcantens@moravian.edu

Telephone: (610) 861-1589

Larry Lipkis, Ph.D.

Office: Hurd Campus, Brethren's House, Room 309

Email: lalipkis@moravian.edu

Phone: 610-861-1656

Webpage:

<http://home.moravian.edu/larrylipkis/index.html>

Visit our web page for more information:
<http://home.moravian.edu/public/phil/>

MORAVIAN COLLEGE

In collaboration with the University of Cordoba

Summer Study Abroad Program

SPAIN

3-Week Course

10-Day Trip

(Room and Board and more than 15
Excursions and Guided Tours!)

MAY 25-JUNE 4

Courses 1 Unit

MUS 191 Music in Spain (M6) Lipkis

PHIL 222 Ethics (M3) Cantens

PHIL 269 Cross Cultural Philosophies (M5)

Cantens

Cost

$ 2,600 + Airfare